Pearl

Drummers should be seen AND heard, but if they value what their audiences think about their performances then it is imperative that they select their equipment with the greatest care and consideration.

Pearl Drums have been designed and built by people with imagination and vast experience, using the finest methods, materials and facilities available today. All Pearl Professional Drums are fitted with Remo Weather King heads as standard equipment.

Research and improvements are being carried out continually to ensure that the latest advances in percussion technology are incorporated into every Pearl Drum Outfit and accessory. That's why more and more of today's top drummers and semi-pro's are choosing Pearl.

Fibre glass drum shells

Pearl fibre glass drum shells are non-porous, impervious to moisture and immensely strong. They produce the most brilliant and sensitive sound, with perfect tonal response. They are truly engineered for today's sound.

Wood fibre glass drum shells

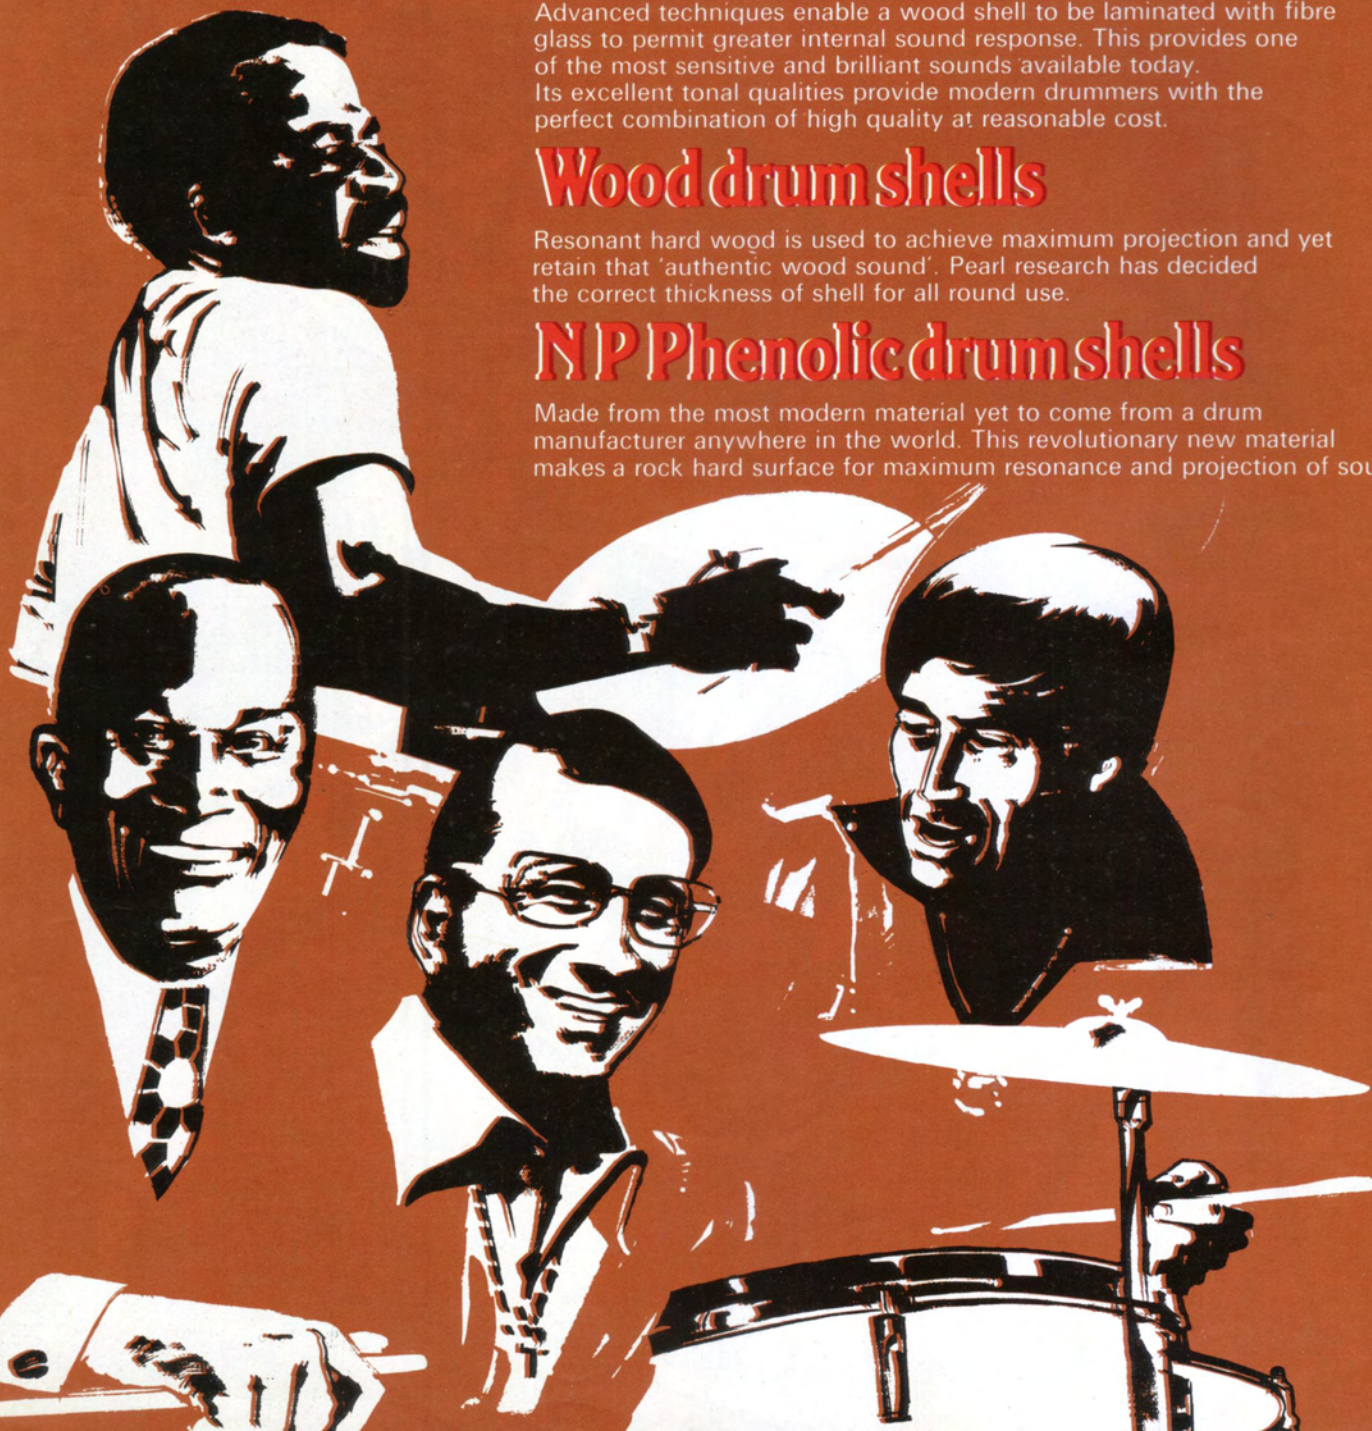

Advanced techniques enable a wood shell to be laminated with fibre glass to permit greater internal sound response. This provides one of the most sensitive and brilliant sounds available today. Its excellent tonal qualities provide modern drummers with the perfect combination of high quality at reasonable cost.

Wood drum shells

Resonant hard wood is used to achieve maximum projection and yet retain that 'authentic wood sound'. Pearl research has decided the correct thickness of shell for all round use.

NP Phenolic drum shells

Made from the most modern material yet to come from a drum manufacturer anywhere in the world. This revolutionary new material makes a rock hard surface for maximum resonance and projection of sound.
