Camco. Some Drum.

To say simply that a drum is a drum is a drum is to claim that any grape can make a fine wine. With professional percussionists, there are distinguishable differences in quality, tone and performance that set some drums apart.

Camco, one of the greatest names in percussion, is such a drum. In design, construction, choice materials, finish and tonal crispness, Camco offers consistent quality.

Only the finest of materials are used in hand-crafting Camco drums — choice grade hard rock maple shells, heavy duty hardware, solid brass snare shells, and full response heads. Anything less would compromise Camco quality. Anything less would not be acceptable to those drummers who rely and insist upon Camco quality for either enjoyment or employment.

Camco is indeed Some Drum, and unlike other mass-produced brands, the Camco line is selectively limited. Whether the music is acid rock, rhythm and blues, country and western or middle of the road, the Camco has the flexibility to respond. As drummers have their own styles and their own individual playing temperaments, their drums should fit like a glove. The Camco is a natural extension of the drummer. That's the way we build them; that's the way you'll play them.

No wonder so many of today's top drummers insist upon Camco quality — drummers such as Keith Moon of The Who, Alice Cooper's Whitey Glan, Eddie Tuduri of Stone Canyon Fame, Joe English of Wings, Mel Brown of The Supremes, Dennis Wilson of The Beach Boys, and Craig Krampf of The Turtles. Hollywood's Cherokee Studios has selected the Camco as their studio drum for recording, and top drummers — such as Jimmy Smith, Bart Hall, Ralph Humphrey, Jan Washington, Tony Dee, and Don Worth, Jr. — are Camco pros.

We invite your inspection of our drums. We urge your critical examination of Camco-quality hardware and accessories, including that famous Camco bass drum pedal and Hi-Hat. Consider the aesthetics as well — twelve dynamic new finishes to make your Camco drums a thing of beauty.

Most importantly, we want you to play a Camco — your local music dealer is the man to see — to see, hear and feel for yourself, the Camco excitement. Once you do, you'll understand what we mean by unparalleled value.

Camco. Some Drum. And it's back again.

Camco Snare Drums.

Was there ever a sound so crisp as the rat-a-tat-tat of a fine snare? Camco is truly Some Drum, and the Camco snare is a perfect example of the state of the art. Camco snare drums are available either in metal or wood shells. The metal models feature a solid brass shell, coated with chrome, and produce a crisp, clean sound.

Camco six-ply wooden shell snares are made of choice grade hard rock maple — the finest wood in the world for percussion — and are hand turned and finished, producing a warmer, more delicate sound. Both metal and wooden shell snares are available in either eight or ten-lug models, and provide full and sensitive response across the entire drum head.

Camco Tom Toms.

Camco Tom Toms offer the drummer complete flexibility and unparalleled tonal range. The six-ply, hand-crafted shells are made of choice grade hard rock maple, and all tom toms include tone controls. The turret castings with solid brass receivers, precision molded hard wood shells, and an exacting shell edge eliminates the need to be endlessly adjusting the tension. A wide variety of mounted, floor and single head tom toms are available.

Camco Bass Drums.

No light-weights here — the Camco bass drums are heavy duty masters of the percussive arts. The six-ply shells are hand-crafted of choice grade hard rock maple, and all hardware is heavy-gauge steel, including firm-gripping claw hooks and steel inserted alignment tubes. This provides true tension. Camco's PosiTune Tension system will stand the test of the hardest driving beats. Camco bass drums are available in both single and double head models.

Camco Bass Drum Pedals.

The Camco Deluxe Bass Drum Pedal, Model 5000, is the most widely used bass drum pedal in the world today. Its mechanical perfection plus rugged construction are two of the chief reasons for its popularity. The Model 5000 is frictionless and quiet, and the simplicity of adjustments eliminates guess work and permits the drummer to arrive at the desired feel, balance and flow, with just the right amount of resistance. The Drummers' Pedal!

The Camco Standard Bass Drum Pedal, Model 6000, is a less expensive version of the Deluxe. Of polished aluminum and baked enamel finish, the 6000 weighs only 3½ pounds, and like the Deluxe, folds compactly without the need for disassembly.
